Healthcare support

The Royal Thai Embassy in Phnom Penh and the Thai Community in Cambodia have been at the forefront of healthcare initiatives aimed at improving the well-being of Cambodian citizens. Collaborating with local healthcare providers, this CSR event, co-organized by Thai businesses in Cambodia, targeted Sre Ambel Referral Hospital, the healthcare center at the district level, with its vast mission to provide medical care covering patients from 3 districts and over 7 public health stations across Koh Kong Province. The donation drive was a success, with necessary medical supplies and equipment provided in response to the needs of the hospital. These efforts not only address immediate healthcare needs but also help improve long-term healthcare infrastructure for Koh Kong's people and nearby provinces.

Baklong High School received full support from the Thai delegation in setting up a quality English library for over 400 Cambodian students with the donation of teaching materials and learning tools such as the world's classic English novels, books related to STEM education, projectors, laptop computers, and bookshelves. In addition, food and consumer goods from popular Thai companies in Cambodia were delivered to support the welfare of hospital and school personnel, as well as students.

The CSR event was a great success, and it is a testament to the commitment of Thai businesses to be socially responsible. The event also helped promote the outstanding friendship between Thailand and Cambodia that touched various facets of Cambodia society, leaving a lasting impact on the Cambodian people.

Where is the Cambodian sentiment toward 7 January for now?

Throw back to 45 years ago, on 7 January 1979, Cambodian people celebrated with high hope and aspiration, as the country was liberated from the long years of civil wars, especially the bloody genocide led by the infamous Pol Pot regime.

Kicked off the year on an optimistic note that, with the wisdom of hindsight, turned out to be somewhat ironic.

Remaining sane while you care for your baby

Because our baby is now at the centre of our life, it has been mentally challenging since even getting a good night's sleep or a decent meal has suddenly become a real task.
